Exciting airport simulation to land on iOS® and Android™ this winter!

Moenchengladbach/Germany, October 19, 2015 – With the upcoming release of Airport Simulator 2 games publisher astragon today announced the continuation of their popular aircraft handling simulation on iPhone® and iPad® as well as smartphones and tablets using Android™.

In Airport Simulator 2 the player will experience the daily challenges of an employee working at a major international airport. A total of 14 fully controllable vehicles and machines such as a mobile boarding bridge, aircraft tug, fuel truck and an aircraft de-icing vehicle stand ready to help the player succeed in varied and important tasks on the airfield. Only his skill and diligence will guarantee the smooth operation of the airport!

Realistic aircraft taxiing and ground based traffic, varying weather conditions such as snowfall, rain and sunshine as well as a day/night cycle will create a genuine airport atmosphere. A dynamic mission system will offer the player a large variety of interesting tasks on the tarmac. In order to successfully master the increasingly challenging missions all vehicles can be upgraded from time to time in the aircraft hangar. The more skillful the player will be able to navigate the time constraints of his aircraft handling job the higher are his chances to win some of the game's various awards and trophies.

Airport Simulator 2 on iPhone®, iPad® as well as smartphones and tablets using Android™ will be available in the app stores in winter 2015.
