

CETECOM earns Vodafone OTA accreditation renewal

Summary: Vodafone renewed CETECOM's accreditation for performing OTA testing for RF Performance V2.5 and LTE V2.0.

January 26, 2016 / Essen, Germany – CETECOM, the premiere wireless test and certification lab, is happy to announce that Vodafone renewed CETECOM's accreditation for performing OTA testing.

With this accreditation renewal, CETECOM is still able to offer its customers competent performing tests according to

- Vodafone Specification for Terminals on Over the Air RF Performance V2.5
- Vodafone OTA RF Performance Requirements for LTE V2.0

“The accreditation renewal helps us to sustain the broad service offerings for our customers,” says CETECOM CEO Wilfried Klassmann. “But it is also a confirmation of the precise and excellent work of our team.”

This accreditation allows CETECOM to offer OTA testing according to Vodafone specifications for M2M devices and handsets that use the technologies GSM, W-CDMA and LTE such as mobile phones but also data centric devices like USB data sticks, tablet PCs, laptops or routers.
