Print templates

The Print templates menu item is the heart of SAXOPRINT® pro design. This tab allows you to generate all templates for SAXOPRINT products.

As you are already familiar with from our website, you can first select the desired product category under product selection. Then the comprehensive range of print products are available for you to select. SAXOPRINT® pro design generates your print templates precisely based on the specifications of the print product you require. You then need to establish the exact product properties below. Based on your selection, you can define the size, number of pages, fold type and additional options, for example. In some cases, certain product configurations also enable additional product extras to be selected. Once you have fully configured your desired product, simply click "Create print template" and SAXOPRINT® pro design will start the generation process.

This process will be complete within a few seconds, and then the print template will open automatically in Adobe InDesign and be available for processing. When creating print products with multiple pages (brochures, booklets, etc.), ensure that these print templates are created generally as single pages.

The generated print templates contain three pre-set layers. The Template layer contains all elements for specifying the dimensions, bleed and page determination. This layer is locked by default and can be hidden if required. The Layout layer is also locked. This contains graphical elements such as the lines of a notepad, depending on the print product configured. The My Layer layer which is shown in the foreground is used to place the design you created. In accordance with the specifications, you can design the print product there.
