Sports exhaust systems for the Porsche 911

For an unmistakable TECHART sound and the perfect sporty styling the TECHART refinement program for the Porsche 911 provides the Carrera driver with a number of excellent options to choose from. The TECHART sports silencer "Racing" or the TECHART sports exhaust system with valve control as well as the dual oval sports tailpipes ensure an impressive and attractive acoustic of the car.

TECHART sports exhaust system with valve control

The valve controlled TECHART sports exhaust system transforms the performance off the Porsche 911 into an audiophile driving experience. The driver can choose whether he prefers a sporty yet discreet sound with a closed valve or a more aggressive inimitable TECHART sporting sound with an open outlet. The sports exhaust system can be controlled with the sport button in the middle console of the car. The powerful sound goes well together with peace of mind: the TECHART sport exhaust system for the new 911 comes with an EC type approval. Furthermore it could be also driven with a closed valve under full load in contrast to alternative exhaust systems with a valve control.

As a second option the TECHART sports silencer „Racing“ ensures an uncompromising racing sound of the Porsche 911 and grants a markedly aggressive audible feedback at all times. And even at standstill, the distinctive TECHART twin tailpipes at the 911, available in chromed stainless steel and in matt black, are a discreet indicator for the sophisticated refinement of the car. TECHART sports tailpipes are specially designed to enhance the sporting character of the 911. They are also available as an add-on for the standard Porsche exhaust system of the Carrera S and Carrera 4S as well as for the Porsche sports exhaust system of all 911 Carrera models.

TECHART offers a very special service to its customers at <http://www.techart.de/en/multimedia>. They can listen to all engine sounds of the different TECHART sports exhaust systems and the sounds are available for a free download.
