

Incomedia enriches the value of the Webhosting Pack included with WebSite X5® Evolution 10: the web space offered for 12 months increases from 5 to 30 GB.

Ivrea (Italy), August 6th - Thanks to the renewed collaboration with One.com, the new version of Incomedia's multi-awarded web editor, WebSite X5® Evolution 10, will include 30 GB of Webhosting for 12 months.

The positive collaboration with One.com, that started in September 2009, allows Incomedia to further increase the value of the services offered with WebSite X5® Evolution 10: it includes not only the choice and registration of a domain, unlimited emails and the Cloud Drive service for synchronizing files among all the online devices but also 30 GB of Webhosting for 12 months.

One.com, founded in 2002 in Denmark, is today one of Europe's leaders as a provider of domains and webhosting services and is considered among the most innovative and competitive in the international scenario.

Federico Ranfagni, CEO at Incomedia claims: "The idea of increasing the services offered and included in our software is the result of the positive collaboration that we have maintained with One.com during these last four years. The service provided by One.com has always satisfied the needs and expectations of our users, and they are consistently rewarded for their loyalty by the generous service offered. Incomedia and One.com want to repay this loyalty by offering a service which aims to be continually more competitive and satisfactory, showing our gratitude towards all those people who regularly demonstrate their appreciation for our efforts and products".

The offer of 30 GB (instead of the previous 5 GB) is valid for all those users who have generated the EDC Code from 11/07/2013 onwards.
