

Give professional presentations with SPEED-LINK Companion Wireless ExpressCard Multimedia Presenter

Weertzen, 19 November 2008 – SPEED-LINK®, one of the leading brands for computer and video accessories in Europe, has a range of solutions in its programme for controlling presentations wirelessly.

The latest product is a wireless presenter for applications like PowerPoint as well as multimedia players. The show-stopper: the SPEED-LINK presenter can be conveniently stowed in the notebook's PC ExpressCard slot. An adapter also makes it possible to transport the presenter in the PC Card slot. This means the presenter is always there and ready to hand.

Along with all the main command buttons, such as forward and back or the volume controls, the presenter also has a laser pointer for highlighting points in a professional way during a presentation. It's also easy to switch between presentation and multimedia mode by pressing the Mode button.

A range of 10m allows the user to move freely within the room during the presentation or to control music and films from the comfort of the sofa.

The device is connected to the computer via a powerful 2.4GHz USB receiver which conveniently disappears away on the back of the presenter after use.

It's very easy to operate, too: in just a few steps, the USB wireless receiver is connected to the computer and synchronised with the presenter. Furthermore, you don't need to install any software.

The Companion Wireless ExpressCard Multimedia Presenter will be available from the end of November for a RRP of €54.99.
