In November 2015, Microsoft announced the next wave of updates for customer management software Dynamic CRM. The new release is not only the most comprehensive ever, but it also represents a huge leap forward in Microsoft's journey to deliver intelligent customer engagement.

Over the past few years, Microsoft has focused on transforming their CRM offerings to leverage the full power of Microsoft – harnessing the strength of the intelligent cloud to help companies deliver amazing customer experiences across the breadth of sales, service, marketing and social engagements.

Despite of all the many new features the tax calculation in quotes, orders and invoices is still missing. Here, the user depends on his pocket calculator! Unless he uses the VAT Calculator of triomis GmbH.

Now ready for the launch of Microsoft Dynamics CRM 2016 the new triomis VAT Calculator which supports both Dynamics CRM 2015 and 2016 is available. Packages for older CRM versions will be provided as before.

The solution extends the product catalog with VAT keys that allow for quotes, orders and invoices an automatic calculation of the tax. Products can be provided with different tax rates. About the client and his origins, you can specify whether it is EU internal revenue and tax calculation will be avoided.

“Our CRM team and I are very excited about capabilities we are delivering today, and we are also looking forward to the next phase of our journey to implement solutions always on proven standard technology and adapt it to the business needs of our customers.” says Stephan Thurek, managing partner of triomis GmbH.
