WUNDERLICH'S ENGINE PROTECTION BAR »SPORT« FOR THE BMW F 900 R AND F 900 XR

The now presented sporty engine protection bar concept, which Wunderlich developed for the new BMW F 900 R and F 900 XR, shines in two ways: with maximum protection and low component weight.

Due to its component geometry, the engine, in particular the water pump, the clutch and alternator, as well as their housing covers, are optimally and reliably protected. In addition to the comprehensive protective effect, the Graftschafter developers attached great importance to the ride height and lean angle. The two-part asymmetrical engine protection bar fits snugly and, thanks to its compact design, also gains in stability and rigidity - and this with a minimized component weight. The brackets for the right and left side are each screwed to four selected mounting points. The torques and forces occurring in the event of a fall or falling over are thus divided over four points on each side of the vehicle. This reduces the peak loads. Easy installation and no disassembly for maintenance work.

The design of the engine protection bar lives from its asymmetry: it is functional and integrates into the line of the F 900 R and XR.

Wunderlich offers the engine protection bar for € 199.90*, it is made in Germany, which is why there is a 5-year warranty, typical Wunderlich.

Wunderlich offers helpful protection systems for all current and many older BMW model series: www.wunderlich.de/en
